Exam Instructions

PARTICIPANT CODE NUMBER 0702-VIME-_____

Please mark the above number at the top of each answer sheet, only write on one side of the paper, number all pages (1 of n, etc...) and write firmly (with dark pencil/ink) to facilitate photocopying of your exam. Do not write to the very edge of the page since that will make it difficult to photocopy the answer sheets for the graders. Please write neatly; handwriting is meant to be read, and not to be solved.

Answer the questions completely, but don't be verbose. The challenge is to organize your thoughts and express them well in a three-hour period. Each essay question is worth 10 points. The written part of the exam is weighted 70% and the taste test, 30%.

For a passing score, beer style descriptions must include the aroma, appearance, flavor, and mouthfeel descriptions as in the BJCP Style Guidelines. If time permits, for maximum credit, a more complete answer should consider the history of the style, geography, commercial examples, style parameters, unique ingredients, and fermentation techniques and conditions. When a question asks for a classic commercial example of a style the correct answer is one of the styles listed in the BJCP Style Guidelines.

MANAGE YOUR TIME CAREFULLY. TRY TO FILL IN THE BASIC INFORMATION REQUESTED BY EACH QUESTION RATHER THAN CONSUMING MOST OF YOUR TIME PROVIDING GREAT DEPTH ON JUST ONE OR A FEW OF THE QUESTIONS.

SECTION 1 (BJCP/ETHICS/JUDGING PROCESS)

Part 2: Judging Process & Ethics

For the following 15 questions circle the "T" if the statement is true or circle the "F" if the statement is false. Each question is worth one third of a point or, in total, the 15 questions are worth 5 of the 100 points possible on the essay portion.

1.	T	F	The "head" judge at a table should try to tutor apprentice or lower-rank judges if time permits.
2.	T	F	Strong scents from the environment or other judges or stewards should be brought to the attention of the competition organizer.
3.	T	F	There is no need to sniff the aroma immediately after pouring the entry into the glass.
4.	T	F	You should always fill out the "Style Grid" on the score sheet, as a good check against your scores.
5.	T	F	Judges' comments must not include derogatory, rude, and/or snide comments.
6.	T	F	If assigned to judge a category that he or she has entered a judge should just judge the category without notifying the judge director or competition organizer.
7.	T	F	When there is a discrepancy in the scores for a given beer, the lower-ranked judges should yield to the opinion of the highest ranked BJCP judge at the table.
8.	T	F	Perfumed shampoos and colognes should be avoided prior to a judging event because they can reduce a judge's sensitivity to the aromas of beer.
9.	T	F	Calibrations beers are selected to be the standard against which entries should be judged.
10.	T	F	The consensus score assigned to the beer is not necessarily an average score.
11.	T	F	A judge may not serve as a competition organizer, even if this person has no knowledge of entries and entrants.
12.	T	F	Beers must be evaluated in the sequence specified on the flight sheet.
13.	T	F	If possible, there should be at least one BJCP-ranked judge in every flight.
14.	T	F	The results of the bottle inspection does not affect the scoring.
15.	T	F	It is acceptable to remove offensive smelling entries from the judging table after they have been evaluated.

SECTION 2 (STYLES/BREWING TECHNIQUES)

Each of the following essay questions is worth 10 points out of the 100 points possible on the essay portion of the exam.

1. For each of the three sub-styles Robust Porter, Dry Stout, and Extra Special/Strong Bitter (English Pale Ale) provide a statement describing the sub-styles as well as the differences and similarities between the sub-styles by addressing each of the following topics:

6 points	Describe the aroma, appearance, flavor, and mouthfeel of each sub-style as in the BJCP Style Guidelines.
2 points	Identify at least one aspect of the ingredients (malts, hops, water chemistry) or background information (history, fermentation techniques and conditions, or serving methods) that distinguishes each sub-style.
1 point	For each of the sub-styles name at least one classic commercial example as listed in the BJCP Style Guidelines.
1 point	Describe the similarities and differences between the three sub-styles.

2. Provide a complete ALL-GRAIN recipe for a American IPA, including:

1 point	Target statistics (starting specific gravity, final specific gravity, and bitterness in IBUs or HBUs) and color (as SRM or a textual description of the color)
2 points	Batch size, ingredients (grist, hops, water, and yeast) and their quantities.
3.5 points	Mashing, boil, fermentation, packaging, and other relevant brewing procedures.
3.5 points	Explain how the recipe fits the style's characteristics for flavor, aroma, appearance, mouthfeel and other significant aspects of the style and describe how the ingredients and processes used impact this style.

3. Identify three distinctly different beer styles that contain wheat as 25% or more of the grist. Beer styles that are variations of each other based on color, strength or other subtle differences do not count as distinctly different for the purposes of this question. For each style provide a statement describing the style as well as the differences and similarities between the styles by addressing the following topics:

6 points	Describe the aroma, appearance, flavor, and mouthfeel of each sub-style as in the BJCP Style Guidelines.
2 points	Identify at least one aspect of the ingredients (malts, hops, water chemistry) or background information (history, fermentation techniques and conditions, or serving methods) that distinguishes each sub-style.
1 point	For each of the sub-styles name at least one classic commercial example as listed in the BJCP Style Guidelines.
1 point	Describe the similarities and differences between the three sub-styles.

4. Describe and discuss the following three beer characteristics. What causes them and how are they avoided and controlled? Are they ever appropriate, and if so, in what beer styles?

a) fruitiness	b) sherry-like	c) astringency

5. Identify, describe, and give at least one classic commercial example as listed in the BJCP Style Guidelines of a major beer style commonly associated with the following three locations:

a) Vienna	b) San Francisco	c) Einbeck

6. Explain what happens during the mashing process. Describe three different mashing techniques and the advantages and disadvantages of each.

7. For each of the three sub-styles Cream Ale, Kölsch, and Munich Helles provide a statement describing the sub-styles as well as the differences and similarities between the sub-styles by addressing each of the following topics:

6 points	Describe the aroma, appearance, flavor, and mouthfeel of each sub-style as in the BJCP Style Guidelines.
2 points	Identify at least one aspect of the ingredients (malts, hops, water chemistry) or background information (history, fermentation techniques and conditions, or serving methods) that distinguishes each sub-style.
1 point	For each of the sub-styles name at least one classic commercial example as listed in the BJCP Style Guidelines.
1 point	Describe the similarities and differences between the three sub-styles.

8. Discuss the following three brewing techniques. How do they affect the beer?

a) adding gypsum	b) fining	c) kraüsening

9. Complete the attached score sheet marked with "Classic Example Score Sheet" as if you were judging a classic commercial example of the Scottish Export 80/- style. You do not need to complete the "Overall Impression" section but otherwise the score sheet should be completed as it would during a normal competition.
